A Street Pole Named Desire

The anodised aluminium alloy Desire Pole (silver) includes a top cap and stands 3600mm tall, with up to 700mm designed for below-ground installation. Built-in channels accept coloured infill strips, flag angles and stainless steel bolts for fixing cases, signs and brackets, removing the need for steel banding. Structurally approved and compatible with solar or mains power.

Little Samson Timetable Case

A tough, rust-free aluminium case built for lasting performance and easy maintenance. The clear front panel slides into sealed grooves and locks in place with a spring clip to keep timetables dry and visible. A concealed stainless steel screw secures the removable bottom cap, with drainage gaps to prevent water build-up. Timetables sit on raised supports and can be held in place with optional accessories like a Pressure Board, Carrier or Front Wallet. Available in a range of sizes and colours, it's a practical, cost-effective choice for everyday use.

Rust-free alloy

Made from aluminium alloy, this unit is highly durable and rust-free.

Sectional Timetable Case

Designed for strength and flexibility, the Sectional case uses interlocking aluminium profiles for rigid support across varied widths. A clear front panel locks into deep grooves for a secure weather seal, while ventilation gaps and a raised ledge keep moisture out. Tamperproof access and optional carriers suit larger or custom layouts.

Low environmental impact

75% of all aluminum ever produced is still in use today

We believe in designing for the future. That's why the Desire Pole is made entirely from 100% recyclable aluminium, ensuring a closed-loop lifecycle that minimises environmental impact. Unlike traditional materials that contribute to waste, aluminium can be recycled indefinitely without losing quality, reducing the need for raw material extraction and lowering carbon emissions.

By choosing the Desire Pole, you're investing in sustainable innovation and a product that's built to last, yet designed to be repurposed time and again.

Durable. Sustainable. Infinitely Recyclable.

Notes

We're always looking to collaborate with businesses who value quality and reliability. Let's work together to create exceptional display solutions for your needs.
